

Bookish Fun for Winter: A January Reading Challenge for Kids

- Read a book that is set in the snow.
- Read a book while enjoying your favorite hot drink.
- Read a book about Martin Luther King Jr. in honor of Martin Luther King Jr. Day (January 21).
- Read a book published the year you were born.
- Warm up! Read a book set at the beach.
- Read a book about a character who doesn't look like you.
- Celebrate A.A. Milne's birthday (January 18) by reading a Winnie-the-Pooh story.
- Ask a Librarian: Visit your local library and ask a librarian to suggest a great book featuring penguins or polar bears.
- Read a book with a cover you're not completely crazy about.
- Build a pillow fort and read a book inside it.
